Game Plan:

SEO & Link-Building, Remarketing Ad Campaign, Review Curation

- ▶ Revamp existing metadata on the website, and re-optimize all pages
- ▶ Audit online citations, and build over a hundred new online business profiles
- ▶ Add an ongoing stream of fresh, original content to the site in the form of blogs and service pages
- ▶ Build high quality links from different reputable sources to increase website credibility
- ▶ Launch a Facebook remarketing campaign
- ▶ Launch email campaign to request online reviews from past customers

Why it worked:

The Importance of Links

Links are one of the most important factors in how search engines determine a website's rankings. Websites with large numbers of backlinks from a variety of different reputable sources are considered more authoritative and, as such, achieve higher rankings.

We do extensive link-building for our clients. This is key to a good long-term SEO strategy.

Effective Paid Advertising

There are many benefits to gain from a remarketing campaign. They increase brand exposure and boast higher conversion rates, since they target people who already showed an initial interest in your services. Additionally, remarketing campaigns are relatively inexpensive (working on a pay-per-click basis) and offer double-branding exposure (paid & organic), as well as measurable results.

Content Is King

The phrase "content is king" has almost become a cliché in the digital marketing industry. However, even after numerous algorithm updates and changes, content remains the most important factor in ranking pages.

By writing additional content for a website and optimizing it properly, rankings can be greatly improved.

Proper On-Site Optimization

On-site optimization involves the use of headings, internal links, external links, alt tags, titles, meta descriptions, keywords, and more in order to make a website more easily readable and understandable to search engines.

Using the right mix of on-site and off-site optimization is key to good SEO.

Online Reputation Matters

In the business world, reputation is everything. Especially online, where people have easy access to reviews and complaints about your business. Ignoring your reviews can be detrimental to your success, while actively improving your rating will incentivize potential customers to convert.
